

UPPSALA
UNIVERSITET

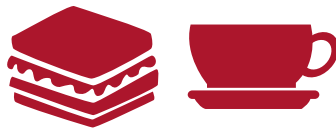

Sustainability

talks

at Campus Gotland

20 September 2017
8.00–9.30 AM | Room E22

Complimentary
breakfast at 8.00

No need to register!

Anna E. Weiser

David O. Kronlid

What does water mean to us?

'Listening to sustainability'

How can we better understand the human connection with water?

'Water scarcity as a wicked issue'

What happens when institutions have to deal with wicked sustainability issues where there is no institutional accountability?

For further information, please e-mail: lovisa.eiriksdottir@fek.uu.se or go to www.swedesd.uu.se

Sustainability Talks is a series of transdisciplinary seminars at Campus Gotland with the ambition to link education and research with the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development - the new global framework for equality, peace and sustainability.